1 What is unusual about your hometown, place of work or job?

"I've done organizing in different states, and our community in Louisiana has always been with the workers. The people are very outgoing, very generous. I know I am biased, but Louisiana has always been very friendly."

2 What does this year's theme, "The Power of Unity," mean to you? How has your local benefited from putting unity into action?

"The speakers today were talking about lockouts and strikes, and that is where the power of unity comes in. In our region, we have a lot of chemical plants and refineries. We all work together and we all support each other. The unity we have, that's our power."

3 What issues will be important when your local's contract expires?

"Our main goal is to keep the good benefits we have and to get fair wage increases."

4 What's your favorite alternative fact?

"That Trump is for working people. He's never been about working people. It's always all about him."

5 Who would you prefer to have dinner with: Sean Spicer, Betty White, Vladimir Putin, Drake, or Céline Dion? Why?

"Betty White. She is the funniest. I follow her on Twitter and I re-tweet her stuff all the time. She is hilarious."

6 What's the best thing about the convention so far?

"We have had some great speakers so far. I've heard Rev. Barber speak many times, and every time I hear him speak, I get chills."

7 What things do you hope to do while you're here?

"We have a very tight district, District 13. It's good that we get to have fun together and mingle with the rest of the group. It's good that we get to let off some steam together."

8 What in this convention will you put to work when you return home?

"This conference always energizes me. We all can learn from each other's struggles, and we can take those lessons home and try to get even more people involved. That's the key, to get as many people as possible involved."
